COUNTY BOARDS OF EXAMINERS. TEACHERS' CERTIFICATES.

The following rule was prescribed by the State Board of Education at its session held Jan. 28, 1874:

"No teachers shall be employed by a Board of Trustees, except such as hold regular Teachers' Certificates, in full force and effect at the time the engagement is made."

The resolution effected by this brief order, will be best understood by a statement of the law and custom heretofore followed.

Two Boards of Examiners were established by the School Law; one, the State Board, consisting of the State Superintendent and the Principal of the Normal School, whose certificates entitle the holder to teach in any part of the State; the other, the County Board, consisting of the County Superintendent and not more than three teachers appointed by him, whose certificates entitle the holders to teach in the county where granted, with the exception of the first grade, which entitles the holders to teach in any part of the State. The examinations are conducted in writing; three grades of certificates are issued. As we are at present more particularly concerned with the County Certificates, the following remarks will refer to them alone.

Applicants for the third grade county certificate must be not less than sixteen years of age; they are examined in Orthography, Reading, Writing, Geography, Arithmetic and Grammar. The license continues in force for one year.

Candidates for the second grade county certificate are to be not less than seventeen years old, with an experience in teaching of not less than one year. The examination is the same as that for the third grade certificate, with the addition of the History of the United States, Book-keeping, and Theory and Practice of Teaching. The license continues in force for two years from date.

Candidates for the first grade county certificate are to be not less than eighteen years old, with an experience in teaching of not less than two years. The examination is the same as that for the second grade certificate, with the addition of Physiology, Natural Philosophy, English Composition, Algebra, the Constitution of the United States, and the School Law of New Jersey. The license remains in force for three years from date.

The Boards of Examiners meet four times each year, viz., on the last Friday or Saturday of February, May, August and November. Private examinations are allowed; but the objections to them are so great that they are seldom granted.

In the early days of the law, difficulty was often found in obtaining teachers furnished with certificates at the time of engagement. Occasionally vacancies occur which must be filled before the quarterly examination takes place; or a teacher is engaged who is unexpectedly detained, for good reason, from the meeting of the Board. In order to meet these and similar cases, the Superintendent has been permitted to grant a "license," when he was satisfied of the applicant's fitness for the position; this license to continue in force until the next regular examination. This custom has led to irregularities, which have only been permitted because the refusal to license would seriously interrupt the school. There is however now no difficulty in obtaining competent teachers, duly examined, who hold regular certificates. Our Normal Schools and other training institutions are constantly supplying us with teachers of all degrees of qualification. The supply is, in reality, greater than the demand; and it is time that teaching should be recognized as a profession, to be entered only by those who possess thorough and accurate scholarship, and who know something about imparting instruction and maintaining discipline.

By the regulation just adopted discretionary power is taken from the County Superintendent, and trustees cannot engage teachers "except such as hold regular teachers' certificates." This may, at first, cause some inconvenience; as all changes do; but this will be as nothing compared with the great benefits that will be immediately felt. Incompetent persons will have no chance of an engagement, trusting to a license, or that something will turn up, by which they can retain their places a little longer. They must obtain a certificate.

Among the benefits resulting from this action of the State Board, not the least is the habit of promptness it will cultivate in teachers whose certificates are about to expire. Teachers are not altogether without fault. While the exercise of the calling tends to cultivate the graces of patience, forbearance and economy, still occasionally some of the old leaven will appear, as Superintendents sometimes learn to their little annoyance. It is not uncommon for teachers to postpone their examination until the very day on which their certificates expire. If, then, illness, or some unexpected occurrence prevents their attendance, or if the time is not sufficient to complete their examination they ask for a "license" until the next meeting. If it be vacation, "their visit is not yet finished." Cases have been known where teachers have urged this plea as an excuse from attendance on Saturday, when they knew that school would open on the following Monday. The present rule will impress on their minds the value of the principle, "Business before pleasure."

Trustees, too, who are ready to discharge teachers from mere caprice, or to engage one because he will teach for a smaller sum than another applicant, will find a good part of Othello's occupation gone. It may be asked whether any penalty can be inflicted in case the order is disobeyed.

There are, at least, two ways of punishing such acts. One is to direct the Township Collector not to pay the orders issued by such board; the other, to withhold from such district the State Appropriation.

The County Superintendent is directed to see that the rules and regulations of the State Board are obeyed; and to report to it all cases of willful disobedience.

So from whatever point of view we regard this rule of the State Board, whether from that of Superintendent, Trustee, or Teacher, we see that it will accomplish an immediate and great reform. Only those who set their own selfish considerations above the interest of the school, will find cause of complaint.

CALDWELL—THE GEM OF THE HILLS.

An attractive home is always a charming spot. He who enjoys such a legacy possesses that which is above all price. But his heart must be in it. The merry prattle of the little child, sweet in its innocence and happy in its surroundings, will impart a thrill of pleasure to the loving parent, infinitely more satisfying than all the costly vanity the world affords. Happy indeed is that family and home which can claim such embellishments to contribute to its felicity!

Now, while the prudent man will desire to provide for the safety of his perishable treasures, they sink into nothingness compared to the treasures of his heart, the children of his home, yet how thoughtlessly, too often, he makes provision for them!

The embellishments of life are not necessarily the oxygen of life. The city palace is not necessarily the Temple of Health. The aroma of the hot house is not necessarily fragrant with the odors of life. All these combined, however desirable and beautiful, do not purchase immunity from the treacherous surroundings of city life. The counting room and the laboratory, the workshop and the store, are all well enough in the city, but the more precious treasures of life should have a wider field for expansion and development. The untutored mind reveres Nature; the cultivated mind is enraptured with its beauty and yet budding childhood more than all, is charmed with its loveliness. We may adorn our city mansions with all the beauty that artistic taste can develop, and yet we can't make them as fascinating to our children as the humble cottage, planted amid the natural beauties of the country.

A residence in the country therefore is becoming not only a luxury, but almost a necessity. The health and happiness of our families demand it. Hundreds of thousands have already made this choice and every coming year adds to the numerical strength of this health seeking army.

Suburban residences are springing up as if by magic, in every inviting locality accessible to business centres. None more beautiful, however, than the County of Essex contains. None where landscape scenery and all the bewitching attractions of Nature can captivate and charm more than here. None which promises a greater harvest of health to its residents. None with better society or where morality receives a healthier endorsement. None where church privileges and educational advantages are more perfectly established or liberally maintained. None which offer greater inducements to the tradesman and the capitalist.

Eligible "sites" loom up invitingly all around us. Romantic elevations, commanding picturesque views of cities, villages, rivers and "seas" are at our disposal. The Orange Mountain, majestic in its beauty, graceful in its altitude and invigorating in its resources of health, adds to our attractions.

But friend Lyon, I am exceeding my limits, and of course trespassing on your valuable space. Could I say less, however considering the fruitful nature of my theme? I will only add that your correspondent has no "axe to grind" in this statement of facts. I am not interested pecuniarily, either directly or indirectly, in a single foot of soil, which is in the market in Essex County. The observations there, fore as above, are simply an honest tribute to the attractiveness and beauty of this section of our State. A ride from Newark to Montclair by Railroad, and from thence to this charming little village will demonstrate the truth of all your correspondent has said in this hastily written letter. Will those in search of a country home make a note of this.

The fundamental principles of Christianity, was the subject treated by Rev. C. T. Berry, of the Presbyterian Church of this village, last Sunday morning. Text, St. Luke vi chapter, 47 and 48th verses. The discourse would be termed, by elastic Christians as a radical arousal of puritanical theology. It was radical in this, that it unfolded clearly and scripturally the doctrines taught by Christ and the primitive Church. I intended to have given a short digest of this sermon in this letter, but must defer the same.

There is some talk here of taking the usual steps to secure a Horse Railroad between this point and Montclair. Essex.

VERONA.

The ladies connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church, Verona gave a splendid entertainment for the benefit of this Church at the house of Mr. N. Dobbin, on the evening of the 26th ultimo. It was called a "Neck Tie Party"—a bountiful supply of these very useful articles, one of almost every color, having been provided by the ladies for this occasion. Calico aprons for the gentler sex, corresponding in color to the neck-ties, were also amply furnished.

On the arrival of each gentleman forming the company, he was introduced to the inevitable neck-tie and requested to appropriate one to his individual use at the trifling cost of an ordinary dollar. This of course, was only an anticipated pleasure—and said "tie" was soon adjusted to its respected position with all the delicacy of movement that once distinguished Beau Brummell in a similar manipulation in days long since flown by. When supper was announced it was discovered that each lady had mysteriously added to her toilet one of the aforesaid aprons, the color of which, corresponding to some gentleman's "tie," paired off the company effectually, in which order they marched to supper. The Caldwell Cornet Band, R. G. Campbell, Esq., leader, discoursed charming music during the evening which added materially to the attractions of the entertainment. The party was a perfect success. Net proceeds, Fifty dollars.

NEW JERSEY DOMESTIC.

Martin Murray, of Elizabethport, eighteen years of age, fell from a coal boat approaching the Bergen Point docks on Friday and was drowned.

On Saturday some sewer laborers employed in Jersey City, found a bag buried in the snow and containing the dead body of a male child about six months old with its head crushed.

The Hon. Moses D. Bramhall died at his residence in Bayonne on Friday of paralysis. He had been elected State Senator from Hudson county by the Democrats, and was for a time President of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank. He was very wealthy and well known as a financier.

John B. Hill, for many years president of the National Bank of New Jersey, died on Saturday at his home in New Brunswick. He was president of the State Bank of New Brunswick from November 1, 1852, to February 1, 1864, when he resigned. Soon after his resignation he accepted the presidency of the National Bank of New Jersey, which he held up to the time of his death.

According to the statistical report there were 7,003 marriages, 21,315 births, and 14,122 deaths in the State of New Jersey during the year 1873.

The Bountiful Iron Company have decided to increase the wages of the miners in their employ ten per cent. The increase takes effect next week.

The Presbyterian congregation at Patuxent are making arrangements to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the installation of their first minister.

The contractor has commenced to lay the tracks of the Watchung Railroad, which runs from Orange to Woodside, and there connects with the Midland Railroad.

The Rev. Dr. Geo. B. Bacon, of Orange, is spending a few weeks at Honolulu, in the Sandwich Islands, for the benefit of his health.

A NEW SCHOOL REGULATION for Newark—The school year shall commence either on the last Monday in August or the first Monday in September, as the Board shall from year to year direct, and shall continue (including the holiday vacation and one week which shall include the first day of April) until the Friday next preceding the fourth day of July. The year shall be divided into three terms, closing respectively on the day preceding Christmas; on the Friday preceding the 1st day of April, and on the Friday next preceding the fourth day of July. Any other regulation conflicting with this amendment shall be changed to conform therewith.

Rev. Dr. Fisk of the first Baptist church, Newark has received from his church a tithing bill October next, to visit the Eastern Continent for the benefit of his health. His salary will be continued.

DEATH OF AN OLD TANNER.—Mr. Abraham Steers died a few days since. In 1858 he removed to Newark, where he began his experiments in quick tanning by a process of which he is the inventor. He was the proprietor of more patents connected with making leather than any other living man.

The New County Bill was presented to the Legislature this week. Its design is to separate Newark City from Essex County and constitute a county by itself under the name of Newark.

It would divide the Essex County remaining into three Assembly Districts, the first comprising the towns of Belleville, Franklin, Bloomfield, Montclair and Caldwell.

The Committee would ask the kind patronage of the ladies of this town, who may require seamstresses, wash-women, or house-cleaners; they may be obtained by making application to the President of the Committee, Mrs. James A. Hodges, who will be at home on Wednesday of each week to receive such applications. The object of the above is to help those persons who are willing to work if they could find employment, rather than become a charity or drag upon the resources of benevolent people.

It is presumed there is no lady in this town who would not encourage such a praiseworthy object, and thus institute habits of industry and thrift among a class of discouraged, suffering creatures.

Let the ladies of Bloomfield co-operate with us in this work, that it may become a complete reformation. That cheerful, honest, hard-earned money, the place of dismal ones, encouraged hearts, for those in despair.

So that He who sees the hearts, and judges the works of his creatures, will say "Well done good and faithful servants."

By order of the Relief Committee.

Mrs. R. N. DODD, Secretary.

Bloomfield, Feb. 26, 1874.
